HARDING STIRS SOUTHLAND ON THE RACE ISSUE

Makes Plea to Birmingham Democrats For Negro Suffrage in South

GETS NO APPLAUSE

President Receives Degree From Birmingham - Southern College—Lays Masonic Corner Stone.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 27.—The democracy of the United States, in the opinion of President Harding, "is a lie" unless the negro is granted economic and political equality.

This utterance, the climax of a strenuous day in Birmingham, and received in silence by the white people in his audiences as the negroes loudly cheered, was the main topic of conversation in the city after news of his words had spread

It was a bold, sharp extemporaneeous shot, directed to the whites in his audience, as a result, it would appear, of the failure of that section to respond to his plea that the negro must be given a fair chance in the interests of justice and national welfare.

"I plead with my own political party to lay aside every program that looks to lining up the black man as a mere political adjunct," he has said. "The South should cease narrowing the negro's political rights."

At the close of the address, members of the President's party were frankly apprehensive as to how his remarks on the race question might be received throughout the South, Governor Kilby, however who introduced the President, said afterward:

"It was a clear and conservative statement of the race question and I approve it."

Other leaders, many of them Democrats, said thee President had merely taken the position of Booker T. Washington, and, despite the very obvious lack of approval manifested toward his remarks by the white people in his afternoon audience, no one of any importance ventured to express disagreement with Harding's position.

The great audience which had turned out to hear him at Capital Park was segregated, two-thirds of the seats being reserved for whites one one-third for the negros. Noisy yells of approval came from the negro section as he spoke for economic and political equality, though warning that an "absolute divergence" must be maintained "in things social and racial. Racial amalgamation there cannot be," he said.

The negro shouts and cheers were in sharp contrast to the virtual silence from the white section of the audience.

But the President's speech on this subject failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the gigantic crowds which surged around him all day, both before and after his park address. Every street he passed through was jammed to the curb, and the hotel lobby was packed whenever he appeared.

The President donned the academic cap and gown to receive an LL. D. degree, and then made a quick change to the Masonic apron just before crossing the street through a line of arched swords to the site of the proposed Masonic Temple. With a silver trowel he smoothed the first batch of mortar and guided the big square stone into place as it was lowered by the crane. Then, turning to the 500 Masons, many of them dressed in the brilliant regalia of the Scottish rite degree, he spoke in praise of the principles of the order.

He had been introduced as one of the "trinity of great Masons—Solomon, George Washington and Warren Gamaliel Harding."

"I want to tell those of you who are not Masons," he said, looking out into the street as the thousands gathered there, "that there is not anything in the ritual or oath of Masonry that any free, righteous or just American couldn't be proud to subscribe to and be the better citizen for it.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 27.—In order to encourage farming communities in the State of Virginia to carry on their activities in behalf of agricultural pursuit the government of the United States has decided to give aid to those farmers who, by their efforts, can obtain financial credit from banks in the Old Dominion. With this end in view the War Finance Corporation has agreed to loan to a national bank in Virginia the sum of $25,000 to a particular bank, in the state upon agricultural loans. Representation has been made to the government that Virginia and its farmers are well able to take care of certain agricultural liabilities imposed through bankers in the state if crops raised would justify it. Due to natural causes and other manifestations of nature farmers in Virginia have not been able to meet their financial obligations. The government, through the War Finance Corporation, has come to the aid of such farmers and has advanced to those agriculturalists financially embarrassed sufficient money to tide them over until they are enabled to derive sufficient money from the sales of their crops to meet all obligations.

The Gazette correspondent discovered today that under the prohibition law the citizens of Virginia have over looked a very important fact. Inquiry at the office of Royal A. Haynes U. S. Prohibition Commissioner developes that a patient in the "Old Dominion" suffering from any ailment which can be relieved by the use of malt liquors in entitled to at least a gallon of such liquids within a period of twenty days. The only trouble about this provision of law enacted by the state is that malt liquors—beer, ale and porter—are prohibited under the terms of the Volstead Act. But the Volstead Act in this respect is null and void by the regulations issued by the Secretary of the Treasury within the last few days providing that malt liquors may be manufactured and issued to patients under a prescription of a physician.

The office of the Prohibition Commissioner is at present engaged in passing upon applications for permits from state prohibition directors who have received applications from brewers to make the various kinds of malt liquors prescribed in the Treasury Department regulations. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair told the Gazette correspondent today that all legitimate brewers would be notified within the next few days to turn their malt beverage establishments into the manufacture of beer with a "kick" in it.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is the man of the hour in so far as a settlement of the strike of railroad employes is concerned. Hoover has been called upon by President Harding to collate and collaborate facts, figures and persons with respect to the present transportation situation, It has been Hoover who, in conference with the Secretary of War, has been able to lay down to the public and to the principal agitators of the Brotherhoods Union, the fact that the unemployment situation guarantees the filling of jobs in the railroad field which would be vacated by a walk out of employes.

The government, despite the rather hostile attitude on the part of both railroad executives and employes to the powers of the Railway Labor Board, is of the opinion that a general walkout of members of the railway union on October 30 will not take place.

A. Mitchell Palmer, former Attorney General of the United States and himself a Quaker, who delivered the opinion as a member of President Wilson's cabinet which resulted in the opinion just announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon authorizing the manufacturing of beer and other malt products as well as wine for use in the medicinal arts, was not prepared today to make any comment upon the ratification of an opinion by a republican administration given by a democratic organization.

"Ie seems to me," said Mr. Palmer, "that the republican administration has been a little long inrecognizing and putting into effect the laws of the land."

IN CASE OF RAIL STRIKE

Chamber of Commerce Plans For Transportation

After a called meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce held this morning the following statement was given out:

"Without reference to the issues between the railroads and their employees but for the purpose of being prepared to serve the people of this community in case an imergancy should arise on account of any serious interrpution to the train service in the near future the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting this morning appointed Emergency Transportation and Emergency Food and Fuel Committees.

It will be the duty of these committees to make a tentative survey of all emergency transportation facilities and available food and fuel supply and to be prepared to render effirient service to this community in case of any serious interruption to the regular channels of transportations.

There seems to be no immediate cause for uneasiness as to the present food and fuel supply and it is sincerely hoped that there will be no occasion requiring these committees going actively to work but it is deemed wise to be prepared in case the necessity should arise.

Pioneers Plan Rally Meeting November 6

St. Paul's Troop Pioneers, No. 1, aspire to be the largest troop in the city. This ambition was crystalized at the regular meeting of the troop at the St. Paul's Parish Hall last night. The boys were the first to have a troop in the city and now they would not only be the first but the largest.

The boys decided to hold a rally meeeting Friday evening, November 4th, at which all of the old members will be reinstated and all other boy members of the Sunday School that would be eligible will be invited. A program full of interest to boys is being planned by the boys themselves, refreshments will be served, and the boys have adopted the slogan, "Troop No. 1, Twenty-five Strong."

Committees appointed for the occasion are Invitation, Lovell Wilcoxson and Russell Sutton; Membership, Donald King and Carlos McCullough; Reception, Reid Dunn and John Sherman Fowler, Jr.; Entertainment, Edward Scott and Robert Cochran, and refreshments, Charles Robey and Edward Bayliss. The troop has changed the meeting nights to the first and third Friday nights and will continue to attend in a body the gymnasium class at the Westminster Building each Monday night.

TRINKLE AS 33rd DEGREE MASON

Richmond, Va., Oct. 27.—Senator E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic candidate for governor, now engaged in conducting a sweeping campaign through Virginia, was signally honored a few days ago in being invited to Washington by the Supreme Council, thirty-third degree Masons, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, to be invested with the thirty-third degree. Owing to his campaign appointments Senator Trinkle was unable to accept the invtation.

The ceremonies at Washington were most impressive. Members of the Supreme Council made a pilgrimage to Mt. Vernon, the home of Washington, where a wreath was laid on the tomb of the first president of the United States by Professor Raoul V. Palmermi, sovereign grand commander of Italv. More than two hundred thirty-second degree Masons and guests of the order accompanied the supreme officials to the home of Washington on their pilgrimage.

A consistorial session was held at the House of the Temple, Sixteenth and S streets, the following day, when additional names were placed on the list of Knights commanders of the court of honor. Investiture of those accorded this honor was made the same night. This honor was to have been conferred on Senator Trinkle.

Masons from all parts of the United States were present in Washington to take part in and to witness the solemn ceremonies, which lasted for several days. Senator Trinkle is one of the highest Masons in Virginia.

CITY ENGAGED IN REPAIRING SIDEWALKS

Under Plan Most of Cost Is Borne By Property Owners

SYSTEMATIC PLAN

Since Work Started Many Sidewalks Have Been Repaired—Council Orders 127 Additional Walks Improved

A comprehensive system of sidewalk improvements is now in progress in this city. Since it was launched many sidewalks in bad condition have been repaired by the city.

Under the prevailing plan, the work is done under the direction of City Engineer E. C. Dunn and the greater part of the cost is assessed against the property owners.

In all cases where sidewalks are in bad condition a note is made of it by the city engineer and committee on streets and ordinances directing repairs to same are presented to the city council and acted on.

At the meeting of city council last Tuesday night resolutions directing the repair of 127 sidewalks were ordered. Of this number ninety-nine are on North Columbus street.

This work probably will be completed before winter sets in. Already a large number have been repaired under the new plan and next spring many more sidewalks are to be repaired and in this way the city council hopes to have every sidewalk in the city put in good order before next ummer.

STATE NEWS

Colonial Beach—The center of activities in the Eastlake murder case shifted yesterday to Montross, where Tuesday Miss Sarah E. Knox and Roger D. Eastlake, husband of the slain woman were indicted by a grand jury, to this place, the scene of the killing. The defense lawyers arrived early yesterday and began a minute investigation of the Eastlake home and grounds, checking up testimony given before the grand jury. Thomas L. Hunter, of King George County, who has been retained by residents of this place to aid the prosecution, also was here today in an effort to gather additional evidence. After the indictments were returned yesterday at Montross, Judge Chinn set the date of trial for December 13.

Newport News—J. Thomas Newsome, candidate for attorney general on the colored republican ticket, made the following comment last night on Colonel Anderson's Norfolk speech. He said if anything were needed to solidify the negro voters against the lily-white ticket in Virginia Colonel Anderson supplied it in his Norfolk speech. He takes the democratic party to task for allowing negro republican judges to act in an election. He condemns that party for a simple act of constitutional justice which carried no possibility of negro denomination. He says if he is elected governor he will put the negroes out My reply is that the same day that he is elected governor of the grand old state of Virginia I shall be a millionaire."

Winchester—The right to hold a ceremonial dance in connection with a Greek wedding here on Sunday was questioned by a number of members of the Winchester Ministerial Association and some of the Law Enforcement League, it was learned yesterday, but the wedding and dance were held just the same and without police interference. Anderson, Republican gubernatorial candidate, here, before an audience of about 900 white people, last night stated that he had ordered resort to the mandamus to rid thirty-two precincts of the State, four of which he charged are in Charlottesville, and the remainder in Eastern Virginia, of negro election judges. If unsuccessful, he said he would pillory the Democratic party in every part of the State until they are removed.

Richmond—There appears to be little doubt that the "old men" in the next house of delegates will be in a position to organize that body in the caucus—to name the officers and to thus be in a position to control what shall be the course of the body in the main. There will be not less than fifty of the old men, the old democrats, who will come back.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE STREET By The Man About Town

I fondly think Virginia's eyes
Are somewhat like Virginia's skies;
The golden sunshine of her hair
Unto the glint embodied there
Upon Virginia's tawny hills;
And, like the chatter of our rills
I hear her laughter—see the red
That on her cheeks and lips is spread.
The pools of old Potomac's stream,
Deep, luring, flecked with radiant gleam—
I say, the vision bright of these
Is like the dimples in her knees.

Even in this period when modern offices are fitted with flat top desks, most of the older boys among the business men prefer the "roll top."

General Foch admits that beating Germany was his life study. Did he matriculate with honors? You tell the world he did!!

Give to the world a smile and a smile will come back to you just as surely as the surly frown will do the boomerang stunt. A wholesome grin will pull a kink out of your system and a hearty handshake will cause one's solar plexus nerves to unravel like a ball of yarn.

We dropped in on one of the progressive merchants of the city to find out just how good business is in Alexandria. He is a conservative level headed individual who keeps in close touch with the pulse of the prospective purchaser and his logic is convincing.

"The most hopeful sign for business just now, "stated Mr. — "Is in the fact that so very many persons are really in need of merchandise of one kind and another. Many people have refrained from making necessary purchases awaiting the arrival of the muchly advertised normalcy. They have held back as long as possible and now with reduced prices in sight they are beginning to replenish their wardrobes and household furnishings. I expect to do a good fall business and I have stocked my store with an up-to-date line of staple merchandise which I anticipate turning over without trouble."

Taken as a whole the merchant has correctly sized up the situation. We all balked at what we considered the extortionate prices of the sky-rocket period. Now we have to buy because we must. And that's a darned good reason.

Mary had a little cold,
It stayed with her, you bet;
And though she covered up her knees,
Her nose is running yet.

They are talking of taxing gasoline in Virginia. Up to date no tax levies have been proposed on air. Possibly the legislators have in mind the enormous demand for the hot variety so freely distributed just before election day.

We passed a crowd of Girl Scouts who were trotting along the highway leading into Washington .Natty and trim in their hiking suits they compared most favorably with the Flapper Brigade of F street. Praise be, the athletic out-of-door girl, is a fixture on the firmanent in this Year of our Lord.

One of the best sellers of the day is a book entitled. "My Three Husbands." Of course the lady doesn't disclose her identity—possibly because she is stalking another victim. And the "three goats" can't tip her off to the inquisitive public for obvious reasons.

A sewing machine salesman is a busy man. We met him out on North Columbus street and stopped to pass the time o'day.

"I just sold the lady, in the big house over there a new machine," volunteered our friend as he lighted a cigar. "I rang the bell and she came to the door with the light of battle in her eye. She told me she didn't want a sewing machine, that she didn't need one and wouldn't have the particular brand I happen to sell for a gift. I didn't think there was a possible chance of a sale, but—I explained that I was making a house to house canvass of the neighborhood and that I didn't want to insult her by passing her by. That even if I couldn't sell her a machine I would be glad to leave the sales literature for her to look over. I explained the new devices and auxiliary attachments. I got her attention. She requested me to step in and look at the machine in her house. I found it an antiquated model and—well I sold her the latest motor driven novelty on the market."

Salesmanship is an art. Some people acquire it through persistent effort. We are inclined to think our friend who sells sewing machines learned it that way. And courtesy and persistency sell goods in Alexandria or anywhere else under the sun.

STRIKE PARLEY CALLED OFF BY LABOR BOARD

Chiefs Admit Unions Will Ignore Orders Uuless Demands Are Settled

BOARD RETURNS HOME

Chairman Barton Is Expected to Make a Statement On the Situation Shortly.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—"Big Five," brotherhood chiefs told the United States Railroad Board last night that nothing but a "satisfactory settlement" can stop the threatened strike from being clamped on the railroads starting at 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

Further sessions of the labor board meeting with railroad executives and heads of the railroad brotherhoods were called off at 8:30 o'clock tonight, when adjournment was announced. The railroad executives immediately began returning to their homes, while brotherhood chiefs announced that they would meet tomorrow with the general chairman. Chairman Barton of the labor board announced that a settlement would be made public probably tomorrow.

In reply to four categorical questions from R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, each of the five union chiefs declared their opinion that, if the board issued an order declaring the strike unjustified and directing that it should not occur, the men would not respect the order. They said if the board issued such an order they would not use their power to get compliance from the men.

They declared that, supposing they or the executive committees of the brotherhoods issued an order calling off the strike, unless a settlement had been effected, the men would ignore their orders. Nothing but a "satisfactory settlement," they avowed, can avert a walk out.

The questions by Judge Barton brought to a head a day of inquiry directed to the question of whether the strike is against the July wage cut and a violation of a board ruling, and second, what differences between men and carriers may be underlying causes. It was held in the Coliseum annex, and it was attended by perhaps the most notable gathering of railroad men ever assembled in America.

At the end of the day's sessions, T. C. Cashen, head of the Switchmen, in a statement reflecting the sentiment of other brotherhood chiefs, said: "Nothing transpired at the day's meetings to change the situation, so far as settlement is concerned."

Shortly before the afternoon session closed W. L. Menimen, of the labor group on the board, asked W. S. Carter, of the firemen, "are you willing to talk it over with the railroad executives?"

"Oh, man," replied Carter, "if only they had talked when we met them a short time ago, I'm afraid they've got to do some fast talking now. If they had just talked, instead of telling us they had decided to seek another 10 per cent wage reduction! If you'll adjourn tonight we can talk until 3 o'clock in the morning."

As to the next move, the board tonight seemed undecided. Opinion of some of the members was that efforts would be made to bring executives and the union chiefs together in a session; others said they did not think this would be done. The general impression was that the day's meeting had accomplished nothing.

Federal Agents Here Looking for Bootleggers

Federal prohibition agents are in Alexandria just now looking up moonshiners and bootleggers. These officials yesterday afternoon accompanied by Policemen Magner and Durrer went into Fairfax county and captured about a gallon of whisky in a keg and one empty keg which they brought to police headquarters.

TODAY'S THOUGHT To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace.

George Washington.

ANDERSON'S FIGURES

We are in receipt of a communication from Republican State Headquarters, at Richmond, of some four type-written pages, all about the number of office-holders in Virginia. Nowhere in the panoplied array of statistics is there any hint as to how a Republican administration would reduce the number. Nowhere in this staggering compilation of horrors is there a suggestion as to why it makes an argument for Republican votes. Nowhere is any hint of blame attached to the Democratic party for the mathematics of office-holding in the Old Dominion.

Statistics are valuable only in comparison. Figures do not damn unless correlated to facts. We believe that this crime of office-holding, that causes such spasmodic contraction of the facial muscles of Col. Anderson, would be found even more prevalent in the Republican states than in those in the Democratic column.

For our own part, we could wish the number of office-holders in Virginia were prodigiously increased. Col. Anderson apparently shakes his sorrowful head at, as he says, "21,981 persons connected with the school system." We say "apparently." because these figures are included in the general array without comment. Instead of 21,981 persons, as he calls them, we hope to see the day, and that soon, when there may be fifty thousand "persons" connected with our school system. We also hope to see these same persons average even a higher wage than the pitiful $385 now paid them annually. We further believe that under Governor Trinkle this latter feat can be accomplished without any raise in taxation. Even this, by the way, is a whole fifty per cent more than Marion Butler's state pays its teachers!

As the notaries public pay a fee of five dollars each into the state treasury, and do no harm, why not quadruple instead of diminishing their number? As to city officials that is entirely a matter of municipal administration. As to the election officers they serve perhaps once a year on an average.

Deducting the school teachers and the municipal officers and the notaries public and those who may be called casual employees on special occasions, and the statistics sent out from the Republican State Headquarters dwindle into a normal figure that we venture to say would compare most favorably with any state in the union, and especially with the Republican states.

We have as yet seen no solid argument issue from Colonel Anderson's machine at Richmond. What is not pure camouflage is smoke-screen! Luckily, however, the people are not to be deceived, and the vote in November will constitute an overwhelming and everlasting rebuke to the slanderous attacks on the people of Virginia, now indulged in by the little ring at Richmond.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The Trinity M. E. Church and the Methodist Protestant Church are holding four weeks of evangelistic services; the first two weeks in the Methodist Protestant Church and the second two weeks in the Trinity M. E. Church. Prominent preachers from abroad have kindly volunteered their services during the four weeks. This week is the second week and the meetings are being held in the Methodist Protestant Church. Next week and the week after, the Trinity M. E. Church will be the place of service.

The sessions have been of absorbing interest, and the labors of Dr. Martin and Mr. Brown crowned with success, no less than fifty-eight conversions having taken place up to this date. These well-known pastors are eloquent and earnest and the people are responding nobly to their efforts.

Mrs. D. L. Folks, of Richmond, was the week end guest of Mrs. R. L. Tate, in Del Ray, remaining for the pastor's reception in the Baptist Church, last evening.

IN MEMORIAM

LAVINUS—In loving remembrance of our dear beloved daughter and sister, MINNA ELIZABETH, who died three years ago today, October 27, 1918.

May her soul rest in peace.

Dear daughter just three years ago today,
You were so suddenly called away,
Our heart is heavy, our grief is our pain,
When we think of you dear daughter,
When you were called away.
From this land of pain and sorrow,
To the land of peace and rest,
God has taken you dear sister
Where you found eternal rest.
Three years ago we bid farewell,
To the one we loved so dear,
And on her grave together wept,
Many a bitter tear.

From her loving parents,

FREDERICKSBURG NORMAL SCHOOL

A number of physical improvements and additions were made at this institution during the summer, including new concrete walks, repair to driveway through the grove, repair to heating plant in Monroe Hall, repainting interior Frances Willard Hall, building a garage.

Additional equipment has been added to the Home Economics, Physical Education, Social Science and Commercial Teacher Training Departments.

This institution, beginning with the current session, is going upon a wholly professional basis, receiving only high school graduates and holders of first grade certificates.

The school will present its usual weekly moving pictures during the first two quarters and has also bought a splendid series of entertainment numbers for its Winter Lyceum Course. A large number of citizens have purchased season tickets for the course.

We have about 30 per cent more professional students than have hitherto been enrolled at the school.

Through the interest and generosity of the city, a number of cash scholarships have been established at this school for the session 1921-'22.

All of our graduates of 1920-'21 have been placed in responsible teaching positions for the coming session.

EPISCOPAL ACTIVITY

Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, D. D. Episcopal bishop of Virginia, all his visitations for the next three weeks will take the nation-wide campaign as the general topic of his discourses, telling his people what has been accomplished through the movement within the last two years and what he expects of them in 1921. The campaign closes November 20, with theEvery Member Canvas and the gift of money is not regarded as sufficient at the enrichment of the spiritual life of the church is of pre-ebinent importance.

Through the campaign clergy of the diocese are guaranteed a minimum salary, and all missionery workers in Bishop Brown's domain are assured support without outside assistance; a definate program for the improvement of religious education has been interduced and also a definate program of social service. Substancial aid has been given in the erection of churches, parish halls and rectories at strtegis points and in weak parishes, while the establishment of a system of schools for both boys and girls covering the diocese and ministering to all classes of people has been firmly established.

To make this possible the 16,638 Episcopalians in this section of Virginia gove $276,376.31, more than $76,0000 above the quota, and the same amount is asked this year. The record set by this, the oldest diocess in thecountry, places Virginia in the very forefront of the entire American Church.

IN MEMORIAM

BUTCHER—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter, MADELINE LAYCOCK BUTCHER, who departed this life three years ago today, October 27, 1918

Three years ago today dear Madeline,
You have left us,
We thy lost most deeply feel,
But the Saviour needed another angel
And he our hearts can only heal.
We can never forget you dear Madeline,
While in the world we stay,
For our hearts have never been the same,
Since you have passed away.
Though we try and still our hearts ache,
And we do our best to smile
For God will let us come to you
After a little while.
God took our Madeline away,
To comfort the heart of her mother
Bue she waited in despair.
By her broken-hearted,

BRADDOCK MT. IDA
ST. ELMO.

Mrs. Bessie Heisley has been quite ill for the past two weeks in the home of her brother, Mr. Earnest Feagans in Del Ray, but is somewhat better at this time.

The Misses Teresa and Monica Crawford, of New York City, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hale, of Barcroft, Va., were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Richards, at Lloyds Station.

The "Yates Class" report that the Bake Sale held in Alexandria city Market last Saturday, was a great success, and wish to thank the people of Alexandria for their generous patronage.

Mr. George West, of Del Ray, came near losing three fingers of his left hand last Friday while sawing wood with a buzz saw." Two fingers were cut through the bone, the third finger not so badly cut. He was taken at once to Alexandria and had the hand dressed, and it is doing as well as can be at this time, so that it is hoped it will not be necessary to lose any of the fingers

Mr. James Peverill, of Philadelhia, was the week end guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Duncan, on Mt. Vernon Avenue, Del Ray.

The Sunday morning sermon in the Methodist Church, Del Ray, was from Matthew, 17th Chapter, verses 19 to 21. The text for the evening service was Matthew 3:11. Both sermons were delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Wood. Beginning tonight, and cohtinuing throughout the week there will be services at 7:30 o'clock in the church. These services will be conducted by the pastor, and are preparatory to the evangelistic services which will begin next Sunday, and, which will be under direction of the evangelist, Rev. W. B. Waters, from Rockville, Md. The preparatory services in the church each night and the prayer meetings in the several homes of the community each afternoon this week are highly important. Let all who earnestly seek the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in this community assemble as often as possible in these places of prayer and preparation.

Mr. A. V. Brooks has been confined to his home in Del Ray with an attack of "grippe."

Mr. Will Emerick, of Aurora Hills, was in St. Elmo yesterday, and called on several old friends.

Several of the young folks of St. Elmo, gave a surprise party to Miss Annie Kincheloe, of Dumfries, who is visiting Mrs. Owen L. Keys, on La Verne Avenue, St. Elmo. An evening of fun was enjoyed by 20 or more young people from Del Ray, St. Elmo and Washington.

SPORTS

The Virginia Midgets defeated the Tacoma A. C., Saturday by a score of 10 to 7. This was a hotly contested game, Lyons being the star of the game. The Midgets also had the Tacoma Jr's., to forfeit to them. The Midgets are starting on a membership campaign as there are a few boys who are anxious to join the club. All boys who would like to join are requested to report to the meeting at 7:30 P. M., Friday night at the residence of Nelson Duffey, 203 South Fairfax street.

The team elected a new captain Saturday by an unanimous vote. This being Leo Lyons, who is now playing half back on the team. He expects to improve the team very much and to keep up its good play.

The score of the games played so far are as follows:

Virginia A. C. Midgets (19) Eagle A. C. (0.)

Virginia A. C. Midgets (7) Terminals, (6).

Virginia A. C. Midgets (19) Tacoma, A. C. (7).

Virginia A. C. Midgets (1) Tacoma Jr's., (0) For Virginia A. C. Midgets (6) Triangle A. C. (6).

The Triangles defeated the junior team of the George Mason High School and not the first team of that school it is announced.

"JACK WILL LIVE!"

The members of the Alexandria police department are hot on the trail of all owners of unlicensed dogs If the masters of the "Kyoodles" do not get the necessary license they are liable to pay a heavy fine for their negligence.

Recently an alert "bluecoat" spotted "Jack," a little black dog, who for many years has been a privileged visitor to the homes of residents of West King street, where he has been dined and lodged free of charge

"Who owns the old pup? the officer inquired of a pretty young Miss who lived nearby.

"He has no owner, but everybody in the neighborhood is his friend," replied the young defender of "Jack."

"Well, if he does not get a medal, I will have to shoot him," was the final orders of the officer.

The kind-hearted little maid did not want "Jack" killed and she was puzzled as to what course to pursue to save his life.

"I know what I'll do," thought the young miss. "I will go among my friends and ask them to give me money to buy a medal for "Jack."

She started immediately on her humane mission and met with success. Everybody she asked for a donation dug in their pockets and gave her a coin, and she soon had money to purchase the medal, and, a handsome collar, too.

It is a sure thing that "Jack" will live to see many a sunset, moon rise, good days and stormy days before he bids adieu to old mother earth. He seems to understand that something has been done for him as he sports his life-saving badge among his old friends.

Truly, little Miss Hohenstein proved herself to be a heroine of the highest class and she is deserving of praise for her kind act in defense of a homeless dog.

The old-time school book story viz: "Kindness, even though shown to a dog, is often rewarded."

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you life it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the callouses, without soreness or irritation.

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago Illinois.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it,—but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

Let's Go—on the Best Gasoline

IT IS EASY to make a motor fuel with certain desirable qualities, if certain other equally desirable qualities are omitted. But to make a balanced gasoline that equals or excels all other gasolines in quick starting power and economy; that gives minimum carbon deposits; that will idle well on a low throttle, required years of painstaking experiment and test.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is balanced motor fuel. It equals or excels every other motor gasoline in every desirable quality. It will give as much power, measured either on a dynamometer or in the speed of the car. It will start as easily, idle as smoothly, leave as little carbon and give as great mileage per gallon. On rigid tests covering every feature of performance "Standard" Motor Gasoline stands at the top.

For year-around use—especially in cold weather—you can't buy a motor gasoline that will give you as little trouble starting, or greater pulling power on heavy grades, or that will take you as far on a gallon or burn up as completely.

If you haven't tried the improved, balanced "Standard" Motor Gasoline recently, drive in under a "S.O." sign and fill up your tank. It costs no more by the gallon and less by the trip. It is as uniform as science and experience can make it. One quality wherever you buy it—the best.

Treat your motor fairly. Do not expect it to develop power quietly with poor or dirty oil. Polarine is the cheapest aid to enjoyable driving.

HOME FOLKS' COLUMN
By R. S.

"Cease to call him sad or sober,
Merriest month of all, October."

And now October with her wealth of beautiful things is nearly gone. Fast falling are the leaves of russet and brown, and where through the first dreamy days their foliage was massed against the blue of Virginia's skies, bare spires rise and naked arms wave 'gainst a background of sombre grey. Yet while October dies, her wake will be a merry one, for no festival of all the year is more replete with joyousness of irresponsibility than the festival of "All Saints" or "All Hallows" evening, known in our day as "Hallowe'en."

The origin of Hallowe'en is remote but undoubtedly evolved from ancient religious observances wherein bonfires were lighted at nightfall to honor some saint who had passed on before.

While many of the ancient customs were dropped as the years went on, many new ones were added, and the bonfire has remained. So varied are the games and customs of this festal occasion that a Hallowe'en party either for the children or older folk will be found very simple to plan and easy to carry out. Decorations in the brilliant orange and black of the season may be constructed at home, or purchased at a nominal sum at any of the art shops or stores that handle this variety of wares. Yet with all the vast array to select from a Hallowe'en party can be made more original if the individual touch is worked into the scheme of decorations.

Just where the black cat entered the Hallowe'en idea, is hard to determine, but instead of relying altogether upon the black paper cut-outs, why not draw upon the neighborhood for the flesh and blood feline, who surely would find as much enjoyment at a merry festival as if promenading up the back alleys, or singing his midnight dirge on your garden wall. A never ending source of hilarious glee for youngsters, and, I blush to say it, for staid and dignified matrons too, for at Hallowe'en the ban on age is lifted, is to have a cat dance. Let some tenderhanded, but very firm member of the party hold the black cat, while another ties upon his four feet little squares of paper. Let still another start the latest shimmy on the phonograph and turn the cat loose. Nuff said for this feature of an evening, unless the witch, all in sombre black, rides her broom around to keep up with the cat.

At one party I remember, pale wraithlike figures were placed in a dim reception hall to welcome the arrival of the guests. Draped figures they were, topped with a grinning skull, whose clammy hand, extended in greeting, was made of an old white glove stuffed with shaved ice. The entire house was darkened, and apparitions dim, trailed and moaned along the halls causing such thrills and chills that just as the company was on the point of taking to their heels, the basement doors were thrown open, and there, around a merry blaze and glowing embers, the remainder of the evening was spent roasting new chestnuts and telling old chestnut, passing the cider mug and ginger cake, ducking for rosy red apples and popping corn and soon forgetting the ghastliness and terror real or assumed, of the hour preceding.

Now I want to tell the children a story of another Hallowe'en party. This was a party where a tear trembled close on the smile, and we played, we grown-ups, and ran and shouted and bid from our pursuers But we didn't have to hide in dark corners, or under the stair way to keep out of reach of the little hands that haunted us, for these little ones had eyes that were always dark, and all we had to do was to stand very still and quiet. Then suddenly we would feel clinging arms encircling us and nervous, seeking fingers traveling quickly over our gowns in search of some familiar bit of jewelry or adornment that their sensitive finger tips never failed to recognize, then came the glad shout that Miss Annie or Miss Grace was "It."

I was a newcomer to the Blind school. And as the end of October approached and the teachers began talking about the Hallowe'en party, I asked them in amaze how those blind children could enjoy or appreciate such a fete. "Better than any one in the world," they told me. And as I stood at the desk in the school room and watched those nimble fingers cut the symbolical figures from cloth and paped or brilliant coloring, even though I missed the animated sparkle reflected in the organ of sight, I realized that the Inward Light which is a compensation to these unfortunate children, was flashing and radiating with the intensity of the very soul. I asked a boy, one who was blind at birth, what idea he had of the colors he was working with. He told me that he could not tell me so I might understand, perhaps, and maybe he did not have the right conception, but he thought awhile and said "I'm very sure I do know," and I believe he was right.

But the preparations went on with the same care and secrecy as if every child possessed perfect vision, even to the mysterious disappearance of "Old Pete," the laboratory skeleton. And when the great night of the party arrived, never was such bedlam broken loose. It was difficult to restrain their spirit long enough to eat their simple meal of bread and milk, for better was coming after. The large dining rooms and halls in the basement were a mass of a autumnal foliage, gathered by the older boys and girls in the surrounding woods. The soap kettle, big and black "boiled" over a brilliant fire of red paper glowing from electric bulbs, and a dreadful witch stirred her broth and chanted unmelodiously. During the evening, the Virginia Reel was danced and folk dances added gaiety to the occasion. Then the wonderful supper of wholesome Hallowe'en goodies, ginger cakes, pumpkin custards, and rosy cheeked apples. And, as I stood apart in the dimmed and empty hall as the last reveler and hustled off still laughing, to the dormitory, I thought of other folks with perfect sight, who think of these passing frolics as foolishness. In these words did I pity them—"They have eyes, but they see not."

It was farthest from my intentions of making this feature a cooking school all together, but this sort of weather always brings to mind baked apples, and I wondered if the lad had ever reached this section for dropping into the cavity of the usually prepared baking apple, several "red hots," as the kids call them, or cinnamon drops as I believe the trade name to be. They not only flavor the apple deliciously, but impart a tint like unto a rich quince preserve.

My attention has also been called to two recipes that sound "moughty good" as aunt Dinah would say.

Soft Gingerbread.

Melt three tablespoons of either lard or vegetable fat, in a cup of boiling water. Turn this into the mixing bowl and add one cup of dark molasses, three-fourths cups granulated sugar, three cups of bread flour which has been mixed and sifted with one teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of salt, and one and one-half teaspoons of ginger. Bake in a dripping pan in a sheet for thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Ginger Cake

Cream together one cup of granulated sugar and one scant cup of butter. Add one cup of molasses, yolks of four eggs, one cup sour milk, in which two teaspoons of soda have been dissolved, two and one-half cups of bread flour mixed and sifted with one teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and ginger, and the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs. Bake in loaf form in a moderate oven for about forty-five minutes.

MOTHER! OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Your little one will love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, fevrish, or full of cold. A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

PERFECTION Oil Heaters
A Portable Radiator
Just as much heat as you want wherever you need it

Spots that are cool in summer are usually cold and drafty when autumn comes around. Don't give up your favorite reading place as soon as the snow begins to fly.

A Perfection Oil Heater placed in a cold corner soon drives the chill away.

The Perfection is simple, strongly built and attractive. It has a smokeless wick adjustment, a decided improvement over old types of oil heaters. Sold in either black or blue finish, with or without nickeled trimmings.

Save coal this year the way hundreds of thousands of families are doing: keep the house just warm with your coal heater and then bring your living room to 70° or 72° with a Perfection. This makes the "rushing" of your fire for several hours each day unnecessary.

Coal prices are but a fraction less than they were last year. But the cost of kerosene has been reduced almost 50% in the past few months.

You can see a Perfection Oil Heater in most hardware, housefurnishing and department stores. Step in and look at one today.

DEATH OF BISHOP LAMBUTH

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 21.—On September 27, 1921, a cablegram was received at headquarters of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, announcing the death of Bishop Walter R. Lambuth in Yokohama, Japan, following an operation at the United States naval hospital.

In the passing of Bishop Lambuth, Southern Methodism not only mourns a worthy and honored son, but the news of his death will bring sorrow to thousands in nearly every quarter of the globe for he was a world citizen. Bishop Lambuth was an outstanding man in his generation and everywhere was accorded high honor, not only as a prominent churchman, but as a skilled surgeon, noted author, lecturer and explorer. He gave practically his whole life to the service of mankind, being the messenger of his church in Africa, China, Brazil, Japan, Korea, Siberia, Belgium, Poland as well as in fields nearer home. He was born in Shanghai, China, in 1854, being the son of James W. and Mary McClellan Lambuth, pioneer missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Bishop Lambuth received a broad and liberal education and held degrees from prominent colleges and universities in America and Europe. He received his medical and M. A. degrees from Vanderbilt University in 1877 and later graduated from Belleview Hospital medical college, New York City. He did special work in surgery in Edinburg and London. He was also a fellow in the Royal Geographic Society.

In 1877 he was married to Miss Daisy Kelly and with her sailed to China under apointment as missionaries of the Southern Methodist Church. From that time until the day of his death he inaugurated and worked out construction and far-reaching missionary programs in every mission field entered by his church. Probably his most notable and heroic work was taking the missionary message to the heart of Africa, a work which involved tremendous labor, walking for more than a thousand miles over African trails to open Southern Methodism's first missionary station in Africa.

In 1910 he was elected bishop, the highest office in the gift of the church. He was assigned to the Orient as his episcopal territory and his latest work was to hold the annual conference of the Siberia-Manchurian mission, an undertaking enterprised by him.

Surviving Bishop Lambuth are his wife, daughter and son of Oakland, California. According to Dr. W. W. Pinson, of the Southern Methodist mission board, Bishop Lambuth will be buried in Shanghai, the place of his birth and where his mother is interred. It is probable that the remains of his father will be removed from Kobe, Japan and placed beside his wife and distinguished son in Shanghi, China. As soon as the date of the burial in the Orient is cabled to Methodist Headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., the news will be flashed over the wires and church bells in every city and hamlet in Southern Methodism will toll to mark the death and burial of her greatest missionary.
